

Good morning,

My name is Phil Boswell and I attend The Heights in Cleburne. On March 12, 2015 I was told by three different doctors at the VA that it would be a miracle if I was still alive in 90 days. March 12, 2018 is right around the corner and I am far from being dead.

Five years ago, I inherited my childhood home. It was built in 1946 and abandoned 15 years. My friends thought the place should be condemned and that I shouldn't be allowed to move in. I am still living there and I applied for help when I moved in and they reached out to me last week.

Six Stones Mission is going to completely redo the outside of my home and lots of landscaping to beautify the property. Volunteers from White Bluff Chapel in Whitney are going to do lots of repairs inside the house as well. My story continues to get better. Home Depot is willing to donate a new central air/heat unit plus install it for free due to me being a Veteran. I'm guessing over $50,000 worth of work at no cost to me.

God is still very alive and doing miracles right here in Cleburne, TX. I am an old fart and don't know how to use social media. You have my permission to post this anywhere you want because I want as many people to know that God is still doing miracles and that I have been truly blessed.

"You are crazy if you think you'll ever get this place in a livable condition." My friends once told me. But I always believed that nothing is impossible if you're a child of God. This may have taken longer than I expected but things moving forward are going to be great!
